

TATANA

With 19 Gold and 6 Platinum awards and several other awards on her wall, Tatana is the leader of Switzerland's edm (electronic dance music) scene. The self-made artist was born on 7th October 1976 in former Czechoslovakia. Whilst at school she played various different instruments and was already developing a sensitive feel for music. She also attended dancing school for ballet and jazz. In May 1994, at the tender age of seventeen, she had the first opportunity to impress everyone with her musical abilities during a party at Grodonia in Rümlang (Switzerland). In 1997 Tatana produced her own first record, released on Liquid Records, produced in Frankfurt's Polaris-Studio, along with the German star-producer Torsten Stenzel (Taucher, DJ Sakin & Friends, Redlight District, York). On the 8th of August 1998, she completed a set at the Street Parade and at the mega-rave Energy 98, the biggest annual events of their kind in Switzerland. Ever since Tatana Sterba mixed the „Live At Street Parade“ CD in 1998 she became the icon of Trance in Switzerland. Additionally she won the Swiss DJ Award in 1998 and 1999.

Her second production „Tatana - The Second Chapter E.P.“ followed at the End of August 1998 on Liquid Records. In November 1998, Tatana's first own mix CD Tatana „The Mix Vol. 1“ (Warner) was released. In 1999 she produced the single „End Of Time“ along with DJ Energy and signed to Data/Ministry of Sound. The single became a world wide club smash hit. In April she mixed the „Goliath“ CD while in the Summer she was offered the chance to produce the official main mix CD for Street Parade in Zurich, along with its anthem „More Than Words“ (Position no. 13/ Sales charts). In 2000 she released her mix CD „24 Karat“ which reached no. 9 in the official Swiss charts. She managed to conquer the Swiss market right away with her next mix CD „Pure Elements“.

The follow-up mix album „Pink Punk“ (released May 2001) made it to no. 5 in the album charts and paved the way for the mega success of „Superpop“ (Platinum award/position no. 2) and the most successful Swiss dance hit ever: the Gold single „Words“. This was the total boom! „Words“ became a Top 10 hit in more than 10 countries. Besides all this she also walked off with a Platinum award for the „Energy 2001“ compilation and Gold for „Energy 2002“ CD. In the same year she had the honour to produce for Coca Cola. The anthem „Can't Beat This Feeling“ was featured on the Swiss Coca Cola compilation. Of course she remixed also the known anthem „Always Coca Cola“. More than 18 million Coca Cola bottles were branded with „Tatana“. „Wildlife“ (2003) which featured the single „Moments“ rocketed to the number one spot of the Swiss Album charts. Marco co-produced the first no. 1 album of the Swiss female DJ.

Not less successful were DJ Tatana's mixes for the „Energy Annual“ compilation (01, 02 and 04), the Platinum selling „Energy 03“ double-cd (together with DJ Energy) and the „Street Parade 04“ compilation (Platinum award for over 50,000 units sold). With another club burner „Soul Cry“ together with hit producer Ron Van den Beuken in his project The Mystery, Tatana released her first record on Spinnin Records. Her career gained enormous success with gigs all over the globe, from London, Peru, Amsterdam, Los Angeles, Korea, India to Poland and many more. In the Summer of 2004 Tatana produced a remix together with BT for Trance supremo DJ Tiesto, of his hit „Love Comes Again“. The Swiss trance queen was reaching now the status of Switzerland's most successful DJ ever.

In 2005 the Spanish car company Seat released a unique DJ Tatana Edition Seat Leon car it was sold out in a few weeks. In the meantime, during the summer of 2005, Tatana once again delivered with „Today Is Tomorrow“ a summer hit that went to position 10 of Switzerland's airplay charts and sales charts and was produced for the annual dance festival Street Parade 2005 which included the release of a Platinum-awarded « Street Parade 2005 » compilation. 2005 the star also started her own TV show on VIVA Television.

In the autumn of 2005 she was featured on a new TV ad campaign for SWISS International Airlines and also had collaborations with Xbox360's main game Perfect Dark Zero with the official theme- and single-release called „If I could“. 2006 she remixed CJ Stone's single „City Lights“ while in October DJ Tatana reached 74th position on UK's DJ Mag Top100 Poll of world wide DJ's. It was the first time that a Swiss DJ entered this chart. The truly global reach of the artist was highlighted by votes coming in from 147 different countries. In 2007 Tatana's road to Swiss fame and dominance as a DJ was highlighted by her headlining the first ever DJ live show at Zurich's Hauptbahnhof train station where all her hits were played live by an orchestra in front of a crowd of 5000 passionate fans.

In 2008 Tatana decided to take a long needed break from her work as Switzerland's Queen of Trance. Nonetheless, Tatana managed to release her album « Tatana: Tatana ». The track „Spring Breeze“ quickly gained momentum having been played continuously by DJ Tiesto and being featured on Armin Van Buuren's „State of Trance“ album.

In 2011 she came back with her album « Heart » with featurings of US star singer Natalia Kills and others, while she entered the Top10 in the British dance charts in 2012 and the Top10 of the Swiss album charts.

Till Today she has released more than 15 albums, 20 mix compilations and even more than 110 Singles, not to mention several remixes with more than 500'000 sold records and 5 times number 1 in the Swiss album charts. No doubt : she's THE leader in the Swiss dance Industries.
